To whom it may concern:

Late in 2019 I engaged Plains Builders to construct a 9000 square foot veterinary clinic in Amarillo, Texas. When this project started, it appeared to be rather straight forward, but when COVID 19 became a problem, normal went out the window!

Although the following 9 months were anything but usual, Plains did everything within their power to keep the project moving forward. Despite facing the headwinds of quarantines, product shortages, and inclement weather, Plains was able to finish the project on time and on budget. Obviously this was no small task and took a herculean effort on their part.

During this process, the superintendent, Raymond Boynton, and project manager James Ferrantion, were great. They proactively scheduled weekly meetings with my team to make certain details were not missed and any point that needed attention was ironed out. Additionally, their billing was straightforward, transparent and timely.

No matter how much effort you put into making sure things are done correctly, there will always be some complications. When we have faced issues, the Plains Builders team has been great to find a solution quickly. They have been responsive and always taken care of our needs as they arise.

The best recommendation I can give Plains Builders is to have them build my next project. I can say emphatically, when that time comes, my first call will be to Plains builders. Should you have any specific questions regarding my experience, please do not hesitate to contact me directly.

Sincerely,

Seth Solomon, DVM MBA
